

E-TECH: A Learning Experience

Living in today's society, technology has lead the people to live quite efficiently. Because of human's strive for better life, we innovate to make things easy and fast. Personally, i think this generation has grown quite dependent on technology. Everything and anything you want to know, do and see is found on any medium like computers, smartphones and on tablets as long as it is connected to the internet. I feel privileged living the way we do. Having the knowledge and the resources to create presentations and spread information is fulfilling on my part.

I totally agree that with technology anything is within our hands. It makes things we thought we couldnt possible. One aspect where technology has greatly helped us improve is communication. Talking to someone from the other continent may seem unimaginable in the late centuries but with video chats these days talking to them is normal. Access to data, current events and updated news information are most of the advantages brought to us by advanced technologies. Especially in education, the learnings of students is not enclosed only in books but also in interactive display exhibited in schools and universities.

Contrary to what many have perceived, i believe that through social media we have seen more of reality and less of virtuality. It has opened a lot of windows to let us see what's real and isn't. People has become more open to share their opinion and insights that has lead them to be more involved in politics, religion and the society. There are more issues that has to be discussed and as technology has raised to be a media for us to solve this issues.
